We strongly discourage the parent from removing this child from special education. We have discussed our concerns with the parent, including all of the items listed above and possible ramifications of this decision. Our IEP committee has met to make appropriate recommendations for programming, but the parent has rejected all offers of service, including the right to a Free Appropriate Public Education (FAPE). We agree to reinstate services when the parent requests an IEP meeting and signs permission to place as long the student's special education ruling remains current. A student's ruling remains current until the day after the due date of the next re-evaluation.
